The University Of Miami School Of Law

The University of Miami School of Law is approved by the American Bar Association and is a member in good standing of the Association of American Law Schools. The Law School emphasizes general theory, and graduates from the School are prepared to take the bar examination in any jurisdiction in the United States.

The graduate program in law provides an opportunity for advanced study and creative research as well as specialization, thus preparing graduates for a more meaningful career in research, teaching, government or private practice. Graduate Programs lead to the degrees of Master of Laws in Inter-American Law, International Law, Taxation, Estate Planning, and Ocean and Coastal Law, Real Property Development, and Comparative Law (for foreign attorneys only). Graduates of foreign law schools where the curriculum is not based on the common law may be admitted as candidates for the Master of Laws (LL.M.) in Comparative Law, Inter-American Law, International Law, and Ocean and Coastal Law.

The University of Miami School of Law has one of the finest law libraries in the country. The library's collection of more than 412,000 volumes contains the statutes, decisions, and digests of all the states and the federal government, as well as an excellent collection of British Commonwealth materials and Anglo-American periodicals and texts. The foreign section of approximately 150,000 volumes emphasizes Latin American law.
