The University of Miami School of Law

The University of Miami School of Law is approved by the American Bar Association and is a member in good standing of the Association of American Law Schools. The Law School emphasizes general theory, and graduates from the School are prepared to take the bar examination in any jurisdiction in the United States.

The graduate program in law provides an opportunity for advanced study and creative research as well as specialization, thus preparing graduates for a more meaningful career in research, teaching, government or private practice. Graduate Programs lead to the degrees of Master of Laws in Inter-American Law, International Law, Taxation, Estate Planning, and Ocean and Coastal Law, Real Property Development, and Comparative Law (for foreign attorneys only). Graduates of foreign law schools where the curriculum is not based on the common law may be admitted as candidates for the Master of Laws (LL.M.) in Comparative Law, Inter-American Law, International Law, and Ocean and Coastal Law.

The University of Miami School of Law has one of the finest law libraries in the country. The library's collection of more than 412,000 volumes contains the statutes, decisions, and digests of all the states and the federal government, as well as an excellent collection of British Commonwealth materials and Anglo-American periodicals and texts. The foreign section of approximately 150,000 volumes emphasizes Latin American law.

The International and Comparative Law Review welcomes submission of articles of substantial legal merit and creativity authored by scholars and practitioners of private and public international law. The Review publishes twice a year by students at the University of Miami School of Law.

Although the International and Comparative Law Review generally gives great deference to an author's work, the Review retains the right to determine the final published form of every article. Articles should have footnotes for citations, and should conform to the 19th Edition of The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation. The Review assumes no responsibility for the return of any material.

The University of Miami International and Comparative Law Review selects members on the basis of academic performance and a student writing competition. The Editorial Board does not discriminate on the basis of age, handicap, national origin, race, religion, sex, or sexual orientation.

All articles represent the opinions of the noted authors and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the editorial board.

Subscriptions are available from William S. Hein & Co., Inc. and are renewed automatically upon expiration unless the subscriber sends a timely notice of termination. All notifications of address changes should include the appropriate zip code. For additional information, or to place a subscription, back issue or microfilm order, contact Hein at 2350 N. Forest Rd., Getzville, New York, 14068; order@wshein.com or 1-800-828-7571.
